DESCRIPTION OF LAND
(SURVEY PLANS) ACT

An Act to provide for the validity of certified plans for the description or identification of any land where such is required by any written law 10 of 1962

Commencement: 3rd September 1962

1. This Act may be cited as the Description of Land (Survey Plans) Act. Short title

2. Where the provisions of any written law require that for the purposes of any written law a notice shall be published in the Gazette or otherwise specifying the boundaries of any land or area, or particulars necessary to identify any land or area, or defining or designating the boundaries or limits of any land or area, it shall be sufficient if such land or area is described by reference in such notice to a plan of such land or area certified, identified and deposited in the office of the Surveyor General in accordance with the provisions of section 3. Certified plans to be sufficient compliance with law requiring notices of boundaries, etc.

3. (1) A plan shall be deemed to be certified and identified for the purpose of section 2 if — Provisions regarding certified plans

(a) it is certified and dated by the Surveyor General to be a true and correct plan of such land or area and by the authority by whom such notice is given to be the land or area to which such notice refers; and

(b) it is identified by a reference number.

(2) Every such certified and identified plan shall be deposited in the office of the Surveyor General.
